

Madelyn Mackie

BIO

Madelyn Mackie is a career activation and job navigation expert. She is a passionate motivator who believes everyone can be engaged in a career they love as long as they are outfitted with the right tools.

A big dreamer as well as a big do-er, Madelyn draws on her experience of successfully navigating three high-profile careers to provide the expert advice, encouragement, and step-by-step action plans you need to activate your career dreams. Driven by her childhood aspiration to be a superhero and use her talents, skills, and unique gifts to change the world, Madelyn launched her first career in biochemistry and became a published researcher in the field. She later transformed her passion for performance into a second career in theater, during which she worked at four Tony Award-winning theaters including Chicago's Goodman Theater and the Berkeley Repertory Theater. Madelyn continues her quest to better the world in her most recent post as an officer at the American Red Cross.

As founder, owner, and Chief Career Activator, Madelyn shares inside knowledge on how to set yourself apart and highlight your strengths, abilities and special talents in today's competitive environment. Leveraging her extensive experience and success, Madelyn empowers individuals to revive outdated resumes, showcase their strengths and experience in interviews, and make their career dreams a reality.
